➤ A LOOK BACK, A LEAP FORWARD

The Report of Grants Awarded is a comprehensive record of all funds allocated in the 2015 – 16 fiscal year. The publication of this retrospective coincides with the beginning of our centennial year, a moment to celebrate how far we've come and recommit to what comes next.

Every grant reported in this book serves our vision to care for Jews everywhere and New Yorkers of all backgrounds, respond to crises close to home and far away, and shape our Jewish future in New York, in Israel, and in nearly 70 countries around the world.

Standing on the shoulders of all who preceded us, we are honored to remain the trusted stewards of our donors' dollars, knowing that these grants are shaping the next chapter in our collective story.

LIMITED RESOURCES, UNLIMITED NEED: DECIDING WHAT TO FUND

We start each year asking, "What are the most urgent challenges facing our community? How can we take care of the greatest unmet needs? Where will our limited resources have the most impact?"

We find our answers with teams of volunteers and staff who work together to set organizational priorities that determine how and what we fund. Then, we convene and learn from the many voices of our community — nonprofit partners, academics, volunteer leaders, clergy, and others — and mine their expertise to help guide our work.

Our core operating grants support and strengthen our legacy agencies — Jewish community centers, social service agencies, camps, and Hillels — who share our vision for a strong Jewish community. Our targeted funding seeds new ventures and initiatives in these nonprofits, as well as hundreds of synagogues, start-ups and non-traditional Jewish service providers, to address mission-aligned areas of need.

Together, these grants provide the flexibility to impact today's most critical issues and stay ahead of the curve for tomorrow's concerns.

Trust and transparency are our promise to our donors. Our rigorous assessment makes sure that UJA appropriately evaluates every grant, ensuring that grantees are meeting their goals and maximizing their impact.

In 2015 - 16, UJA-Federation of New York distributed $141,795,642. This includes $30,108,531 in core, unrestricted support to a network of nearly 100 nonprofits, and $111,687,111 through 1,033 strategic, targeted grants to network agencies, grassroots organizations, day schools, and other eligible nonprofit organizations.

The Report of Grants Awarded is divided into three sections:

Grants by Issue Area

This section begins with an overview and grant-making highlights from each individual, funding body. A full listing of volunteer leaders and professional staff dedicated to this work will be found here as well.

Grants by Agency – Summary

This section provides a summary of all UJA-Federation funding to an individual nonprofit partner or grantee. This chart reports the full dollar amount that any given agency has received, including both core operating dollars and targeted grants where applicable.

Grants by Agency – Full Listing

This section provides a detailed account of all grants awarded to an individual agency, including a listing of grants by name and full dollar amount. This section offers the fullest representation of the work funded by UJA-Federation.

It is with pride and gratitude that we share this report, a reflection of our commitment to the highest degree of fiscal transparency and integrity.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Network Commission realizes UJA's mission by supporting a network of nearly 100 nonprofits that are core to our vision of caring, connected Jewish communities, helping them become stronger, more resilient, and dynamic. To maximize collective impact, the Network Commission allocates unrestricted and targeted capacity-building grants that invest in key operational areas — and provides pro bono consultative services to supplement our investments. To maximize network effectiveness, we encourage our nonprofit partners to share knowledge and leverage our philanthropic dollars. Equally important, the Network Commission provides oversight and accountability to sustain the highest standards of financial stability, effective governance, and programmatic excellence.

As an additional community resource, the Network Commission connects individuals with the services they need online and via telephone through the J-1-1 information and referral service.

Over the past year, in keeping with the changing times, we implemented a new model for assessing the health, strength, and effectiveness of our nonprofit partners, starting with the Hillels and JCCs; invested in two new technology pilots; and launched a new governance initiative. Efforts are currently underway to implement new criteria and processes that will help shape the future of UJA's network of nonprofit organizations.

We achieve the most good through our network's ability to serve the needs of our community.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR'S PRIORITIES:

Priority 1: Improve Nonprofit Organizational Effectiveness

By allocating targeted capacity-building grants to nonprofits in our affiliated network, the Network Commission enhanced financial and operational management as well as technological and digital capabilities.

The Network Commission launched two new technology pilots: (1) a collaborative website build utilizing open source software for three Jewish community centers that benefitted from economies of scale and (2) a detailed analysis of databases at all 24 of our JCCs in order to make investments to improve data management, analysis, and utilization.

Priority 2: Strengthen Network Nonprofit Connections

Recognizing the impact that can be achieved from working together, the Network Collaboration Prize was designed to foster and incentivize collaboration among UJA's network of nonprofit organizations, and to award funding to strengthen ongoing collaboration or to seed a new project. This prize funded collaborations like the Queens Jewish Poverty Coalition, which brought together the Jewish Community Council of the Rockaway Peninsula and Queens JCC to join resources, hire a part-time coordinator, increase their presence in underserved communities, and leverage government dollars to maximize access to services in the borough.

JEWISH COMMUNAL NETWORK COMMISSION

Priority 3: Enhance Nonprofit Governance and Accountability

Working with UJA's Wiener Center for Leadership and Learning and our LEAD department, the Network Commission developed a program for agency lay and professional leadership to address best practices in governance. This emerged as a priority following the analysis of the Network Commission's Accountability Guidelines process, and through greater awareness of agency needs in the areas of compliance and board effectiveness. This integrated program offered group training, meeting facilitation, resource materials, and one-on-one support in key areas of governance and board effectiveness to over 40 network nonprofit partners.

CARING COMMISSION

➤ CARING COMMISSION

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

No one — regardless of socioeconomic status — is immune to the challenges that life may bring. The Caring Commission builds a system of care so that anyone feeling isolated or vulnerable due to poverty, illness, end of life needs, mental health challenges or the aftermath of trauma can find hope, resilience, and help from the Jewish community. Our programs improve the quality of life for people who feel excluded from the community — young adults with special needs, single parents, first generation college students, or the unemployed — so they can reach their full potential and feel included, connected, and welcomed. And, we're building a community of Jews who give their time as a demonstration of their sense of responsibility for one another, and for the broader community, through meaningful acts of volunteer service.

To achieve our priorities, we draw on the full range of resources in the Jewish community: the expertise of our nonprofit partners; community settings where vital services can reach Jews where they naturally come together — synagogues, day schools, Hillels, and Jewish community centers; the power of community volunteers; and technology, which can maximize outreach to the community and foster greater efficiencies.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR'S PRIORITIES:

Priority 1: Reduce Suffering and Isolation

As a founding funder of the Jewish Agency for Israel's network of food cooperatives, the Caring Commission enabled the launch of four "social enterprise" food co-op stores in socially, economically, and geographically peripheral communities in Israel. The co-ops enable low-income Israelis to purchase food at a significantly lower price while mobilizing residents to volunteer and build stronger communities. Many more are scheduled to open in the near future.

Priority 2: Build Communities of Inclusion and Full Participation

After a year of professional training and mentorship, six New York area synagogues began implementing concrete changes so that all congregants feel accommodated and welcomed. We also promoted inclusion in Israel through an initiative to foster the integration of young adults with disabilities into the system of pre-military academies (mechinot) in Israel, positioning them for entry into national or military service. In the past, those with disabilities had been mainly excluded from these key Israeli institutions, but this initiative opens the door to opportunities while cultivating leadership skills and engaging non-disabled peers in the integration process.

CARING COMMISSION

Priority 3: Empower Jews to Volunteer Through Meaningful Opportunities

Time for Good (formerly Live With Purpose), UJA-Federation's signature initiative to address community needs while providing opportunities for giving back and repairing the world, continued to ramp up to its launch in January 2017. Significant progress was made in building a strong volunteer infrastructure. Twelve agencies have completed strategic plans to leverage the skills and interests of Jewish volunteers to deliver mission-critical, high-impact volunteer service (based on the Points of Light Service Enterprise Initiative training program). Five of those agencies have become certified Service Enterprises, with more than 12,000 community volunteers completing over 125,000 hours of service. On Martin Luther King Jr. Day 2016, 700 volunteers delivered 5,000 meals.

Further, 13 synagogues developed and implemented calendars of high-impact service opportunities, incorporating Jewish service learning as part of our Time for Good Synagogue Initiative. Finally, a new Volunteer Management Institute was launched in 2015 - 16 which has provided staff from 30 network agencies with training on best practices in high-impact volunteer engagement.

IDENTITY AND RENEWAL

➤ COMMISSION ON JEWISH IDENTITY AND RENEWAL

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Commission on Jewish Identity and Renewal (COJIR) engages and inspires individuals at different points on their Jewish journey to embrace Judaism as a source of meaning, purpose, and community. Our vision is for a Jewish community that is open, dynamic, and welcoming. We live in a time of unprecedented choice, and we believe in a future where each generation will feel inspired to discover a compelling response to the question, “why be Jewish?”

Today’s Jewish journey follows many new and different paths. While some may follow more traditional connections to Jewish life, such as synagogue affiliation, for others, Jewish life emerges out of a different set of sacred moments and connections.

As we enter our second century, we are committed to launching new models of Jewish learning and engagement. From New York to Moscow to Tel Aviv, this flat, fast, and furiously interconnected world can be an overwhelming challenge to an eternal and abiding Judaism. We are eager to test experiences and organizations that meet present-day sensibilities and revitalize our communities in new and unexpected ways.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR’S PRIORITIES:

Priority 1: Charting the Contemporary Jewish Journey

COJIR shares an interest in the growing trend to change the communal norm of post-bar and bat mitzvah dropout. Thanks to collaboration between UJA-Federation, the Jim Joseph Foundation, and the Jewish Education Project, a transformation is underway as seven new summer programs specifically built for teens attracted them to the Jewish summer marketplace. From internships to documentary filmmaking, from service work to surfing, 172 New York teens participated in new experiences and gained new skills during the summer of 2016, in an inspiring Jewish context.

By some estimates, 25 percent of all college- and post-college-aged Jewish young adults will spend some time as a resident of our New York community. Following COJIR funded research to better understand how technology and digital strategies can help form a better-networked Jewish New York community of millennials, COJIR “stepped in” to increase high-quality Jewish offerings through digital platforms. Efforts such as One Table are making Friday Night Shabbat dinners an easily navigable weekend destination for busy New Yorkers. Through their digital platform and host coaching, One Table has provided 12,873 seats at Shabbat tables across the city. Similarly, with the establishment of seven houses across New York City, Moishe House has developed a cohort of residents who are trained to develop programs and lead their peers. This focus on growing the number of houses within the city and on developing leaders has led Moishe House to engage 3,442 young adults this past year.

➤ COMMISSION ON JEWISH IDENTITY AND RENEWAL

Priority 2: Creating New Models for a New Century

There is a growing demand by Israelis for programs that reflect diverse Jewish perspectives from local, municipal, and organizational platforms. We have also strengthened our investment in the field of Jewish renewal, forming a strong infrastructure to sustain these efforts over time. We are testing several informal education partnerships, working closely with camps and youth movements as they reimagine themselves as powerful sources of Jewish experience and inspiration.

In Israel, the BINA secular yeshiva brought Jewish education and leadership opportunities to a corps of young people, post-high school and pre-army, in the growing and gentrifying downtown area of Beer Sheva. Additionally, we are supporting professionals in the field of Jewish renewal in Israel through the Eretz Israel Rabbi Ordination Program. Through their training, the first 16 graduates of this program now have the skills to elevate the quality and quantity of diverse Jewish programs and communities in Israel. Locally, three new summer camps for teens were launched treating 200 kids to transformative Jewish educational experiences in the arts, science and technology, and outdoor environmental programming.

➤ COMMISSION ON THE JEWISH PEOPLE

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The work of the Commission on the Jewish People (COJP) is built on the common Jewish values of respect for diversity, religious pluralism, and love of Israel. To that end, COJP's work is focused on building civil society in Israel, expanding the identity and interconnection between distinct groups in New York, strengthening European Jewish communities, and advancing the global conversation on what it means to belong to the Jewish people.

More specifically, COJP's impact is felt among interfaith families actively joining the Jewish community in New York, and by Israelis working for democracy on behalf of all Israeli citizens. We're supporting Jewish young adults who learn and work together to strengthen their communities across Europe, and young Bedouins who are stepping up to lead their communities in the Negev. Our work helps Haredim find employment in the high-tech world, and Russian-speaking Jews find meaningful connection to their Jewish identity.

Whether at home or abroad, COJP's investments result in dynamic, strong, and interconnected communities.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR'S PRIORITIES:

Priority 1: Building Community in New York

New York is a complex and layered Jewish community that thrives on its diversity. One example is our support of Honeymoon Israel New York, a Jewish journey started during an immersive Israel experience. On this trip, couples of all backgrounds, many of them interfaith, begin to define and determine what their own Jewish life and family will look like. Participants are connected to local organizations and opportunities that meet their needs and interests. They are also supported in creating their own learning and experiences, including everything from Jewish book groups to hosting Shabbat and holiday meals.

In partnership with the Jewish Community Relations Council (JCRC) the Celebrate Israel Parade marks our shared ancestry and dedication to the Jewish and democratic State of Israel. The parade remains a cornerstone event for the Jewish community and the City of New York. Every year, the parade draws hundreds of thousands of spectators, no less than 40,000 marchers, and tens of thousands of television viewers.

Priority 2: Combat BDS and Israel Delegitimization at Home and Overseas

On some local campuses, Jewish students are feeling harassed and even threatened for showing their support for Israel. We combat this phenomenon by focusing on students, campus leadership, and faculty. Indeed, professors often are some of the strongest supporters of BDS. To counter this trend, we reach out to New York-based progressive-leaning professors who are not affiliated with BDS. Our support brings these professors together to discuss the complexity of Israel and also to travel to the country on a study tour. After learning about the diversity of Israeli society, they return to campus willing to defend Israel.

➤ COMMISSION ON THE JEWISH PEOPLE

It has never been more important to build strong and interconnected Jewish communities in Europe and enrich Jewish communal life. By supporting organizations like the Union of French Jewish Students (UEJF), training was provided for 750 Jewish students from all across France. The trainings gave young Jewish leaders the tools necessary to effectively fight against racism and anti-Semitism on campus — specifically to combat the attempt to import the Israeli-Palestinian conflict and the BDS movement onto French campuses. In addition, the trainings looked at concepts of Jewish identity and peoplehood with the objective of uniting Jewish students from different backgrounds.

Priority 3: Strengthen Israel as a Vibrant Jewish State

In addition to continued support for social activism training and use of social media to create public momentum around issues of pluralism and civil society, Israel Hofshit's Havaya project enabled hundreds of Israeli couples, along with their family and friends, to experience a Jewish wedding ceremony on their own terms. Havaya is providing a Jewish option for those who can't or won't get married under the auspices of the Israeli Chief Rabbinate, connecting more Israelis with new options for expressing their Jewish identity, and helping to challenge the Chief Rabbinate's monopoly on Jewish ritual in public life.

SYNERGY

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Through SYNERGY, UJA-Federation helps New York synagogues thrive. We provide thought leadership, resources, learning opportunities, and we're continuously conducting research and testing new models. From our New York area lab we bring the best of the learned theories, strategies, and tools to every New York synagogue and to the national field.

This past year, SYNERGY spent time developing programmatic elements that impact more New York synagogues more deeply. These elements include the Thriving Synagogue Learning Tool, and expansion of regional Peer Leadership Networks. In addition, SYNERGY expanded to two additional communities: Northern Brooklyn and Riverdale.

Probably most significant this year was our shift to include professionals dedicated to a "synagogue-centered" approach, and to measure the impact of this investment over time. While we embrace the challenge of working with close to 600 New York area congregations, we aim for a custom and personalized connection with each of the synagogues in our vast and diverse network. By placing SYNERGY regional managers at the center of our work, we foster critical relationships and trust with key synagogue leaders, enabling us to connect synagogues to the most relevant and timely resources available at any stage of thriving.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR'S PRIORITIES:

Priority 1: Help New York Synagogues Thrive

SYNERGY introduced the Coaching Network, where experienced organizational-development specialists are matched to congregations to make real change through coaching in key areas of synagogue life.

SYNERGY also created the SYNERGY resource center, a repository of over 1,000 resources related to synagogues — articles, publications, books, webinars, and other educational resources — easily accessible to our synagogues through our SYNERGY staff.

The UJA-Federation of New York Rabbinic Fellowship for Visionary Leaders brought together a first cohort of 13 mid-career New York area synagogue rabbis from across the denominational spectrum to participate in intensive retreats, learning sessions, and coaching. With newly honed skills, the rabbinic fellows returned to their congregations invigorated and ready to share their visions within their congregations.

Priority 2: Elevate the National Synagogue Field

SYNERGY funded the Cohen Center at Brandeis to develop the first-of-its-kind comprehensive tool that helps synagogue leadership to better understand the strengths and weaknesses of their congregations. This tool will produce critically important information for participating synagogues and for the first time, will allow UJA to benchmark participating synagogues in order to help them thrive.

SYNERGY

SYNERGY also conducted and published cutting-edge research as part of the “Innovations and Strategies for Synagogues of Tomorrow” program series. This year, our research included greening synagogues and synagogue empty nesters engagement. We also published Strategies for Maintaining Synagogue Spaces, which shares practical wisdom for maintaining synagogue spaces.

Priority 3: Connect and Mobilize the New York Synagogue Network

Whether during a crisis like Hurricane Sandy or in yearly happenings like the Celebrate Israel Parade, SYNERGY works to connect and mobilize the New York synagogues. Newly expanded this year, SYNERGY brought together regional synagogue leaders through additional peer-to-peer synagogue professional and lay leadership networks throughout the SYNERGY regions in Long Island, Northern Brooklyn, Manhattan, and Westchester.

NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL AGENCIES

NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL AGENCIES

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

UJA-Federation is committed to strengthening Israel and supporting Jews around the world. We work closely with our two largest overseas beneficiaries and a consortium of national partners, extending our reach far beyond New York to the national and international scene.

The Jewish Agency for Israel (JAFI) serves as the official link between the Jewish state and Jewish communities everywhere. Globally, the Jewish Agency cultivates meaningful engagement with Israel, facilitates aliyah, revitalizes Jewish communities in the former Soviet Union and Central Europe, and empowers the next generation of European leaders.

The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC) is working to improve lives and build connected Jewish communities in nearly 70 countries around the world. JDC works to alleviate hunger and hardship, especially for the poorest and most disadvantaged Jews in the world; rescue Jews in danger; create lasting connections to Jewish life; and provide immediate relief and long-term development support for victims of natural and man-made disasters.

The National Federation/Agency Alliance is a coalition of 28 Jewish communities across North America that provides funding and guidance to nine key national Jewish agencies chosen based on their effectiveness and impact in advancing the mission of the Federation movement. In addition, UJA directly supports Hazon and American Jewish World Service.

CRISIS AND RECOVERY

➤ CRISIS AND RECOVERY

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The true power of our network is that when an unexpected crisis hits, we are ready and able to respond at a moment's notice. Combining the expertise and capacity of our nonprofit partners, we can quickly, efficiently, and compassionately respond to humanitarian crises, terrorist attacks, natural disasters, and other emergencies as they arise.

This year, recognizing that anti-Semitism and BDS required immediate communitywide attention, we focused special, targeted resources on building leadership and education. This additive funding complemented the ongoing work of the Commission on the Jewish People in this area.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR'S PRIORITIES:

Ukraine: Working closely with our largest overseas beneficiary agencies, the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC) and The Jewish Agency (JAFI), UJA has long been active in strengthening Jewish life in Europe and the former Soviet Union (FSU). As the tension and uncertainty rises, Jews in Ukraine — many of them elderly or children — are receiving emergency assistance, access to food and medical care, and the emotional support they need.

France: With the recent terror attacks in Paris, mounting anti-Semitism, and the rise of the far right in France, the Union of French Jewish Students understands well the importance of training Jewish student leaders to respond to these pressing issues without being paralyzed by fear. UJA provided essential support for training seminars, reaching more than 200 students from universities throughout France. Students explored Jewish identity and fighting anti-Semitism as well as leadership training in speaking to the media, setting up watchdog programs to monitor the far right, and organizing to decrease hate speech on the Internet.

Israel: As the waves of terror continue to strike in Israel, many businesses in greater Jerusalem found themselves suffering a heavy financial toll. With emergency funds from UJA-Federation, eligible small businesses were able to keep their doors open by accessing emergency loans for working capital, safe in the knowledge that they had up to five years to repay the loan.

BDS: The Faculty Engagement Initiative, a program in collaboration with the Jewish Community Relations Council of New York (JCRC) brought 14 professors from New York City colleges to Israel to gain greater insight into the complexity of Israeli society. The study tour met with scholars of conflict resolution, peacemaking, political science, water dissemination, urban planning, geography, and other fields. Professors set the tone on campus. This experience helps shape the professor's perspective on the Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions (BDS) Movement, opening doors for understanding, collaboration, and meaningful solutions.

VENTURE GROUPS AND SPECIAL INITIATIVES

> VENTURE GROUPS AND SPECIAL INITIATIVES

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

UJA's focus is on identifying and addressing our community's unmet needs and urgent challenges, determining where our investments will have the greatest impact. Still, we understand that because of the size and complexity, some issue areas may not be addressed through our stand-alone planning and resource departments. To fill the gap, we've created a platform of venture funds and special initiatives to address these challenges.

Our venture funds offer members the opportunity to pool their philanthropic resources and grant funds to focused areas of need. With professional support from UJA, these groups review requests for proposals to determine where to allocate resources, and evaluate the success of their collective investment.

Additionally, we convene cross-organizational collaborative teams to problem solve in a particular area of communal need that cuts across our planning departments.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS YEAR'S PRIORITIES:

The Brooklyn Initiative is an example of UJA building a team that collaboratively problem solves ways to develop and engage a vibrant Jewish community in North & Brownstone Brooklyn. Through micro-grants to synagogues, social justice groups, grassroots minyanim and more, we have observed the creativity and dedication of those that call the area home. Now we're gearing up for a bottom-up community planning process to dream what the future of this thriving community could look like.

Music for Youth funding supports programs to increase access to musical lessons and instruments, choral groups, youth orchestras, and mentoring programs at Jewish community centers, camps, and health and human-service agencies.

Sports for Youth has refurbished basketball courts, swimming pools, tennis courts, and other sports facilities. Funds have also been provided to supply sporting goods and safety equipment, sports programming, and sports education.
